of Trinidad and Tobago

Established by Chapter 39:06

Quality is the Key

The Quality Institute (TQI) is an initiative of The Accreditation Council of Trinidad and Tobago (ACTT) aimed at facilitating high quality and relevant training to support higher education institutions, institutional personnel, quality assurance professionals and other stakeholders. It is important to note, however, that this should not be interpreted as an educational institution providing awards and qualifications.

The Quality Institute's workshops and training sessions are specially designed to enhance the quality of the higher education product in Trinidad and Tobago through the improvement of its institutions and professionals. The ultimate goal of The Quality Institute is in keeping with ACTT's drive to nurture a culture of quality in higher education in Trinidad and Tobago.

Since its inception, The Accreditation Council of Trinidad and Tobago (ACTT) has been facilitating the training of professionals and academics from higher education institutions, government ministries, private organisations and the general public in areas related to quality assurance. ACTT continues to expand its reach and influence through the production of training materials, publications, hosting of conferences and consultations, as well as working with respected local and international facilitators to deliver workshops and seminars.

To make this possible, ACTT has leveraged its numerous linkages and relationships with international agencies such as:

- American Council on Education (ACE)
- American Society for Quality (ASQ)
- Caribbean Area Network for Quality Assurance in Tertiary Education (CANQATE)
- Commonwealth of Learning (COL)

ACTT's Services

Conferment of Institutional Title

Protected titles such as 'university' and 'technical institute' are conferred to institutions by ACTT when the institution has met the requirements to offer the types of programmes typically offered by institutions bearing these titles.

Registration

Registration by ACTT means that an institution has been quality assured and has met the requirements as set out by ACTT for the delivery of higher education programmes locally. Registration is mandatory for all post secondary and tertiary level institutions operating in Trinidad and Tobago.

Institutional Accreditation

Whilst it is mandatory for all post secondary and tertiary institutions to be registered, institutional accreditation is a voluntary quality assurance process. Institutions which choose to apply for institutional accreditation are evaluated against criteria set by ACTT based on international best practice.

Specialised Programme Accreditation

Specialised programme accreditation typically applies to programmes where graduates require a licence to practice, e.g. medicine, engineering, law, teaching and nursing. The programme is evaluated against the standards set by professional bodies in particular fields as well as by ACTT. Specialised programme accreditation is usually a joint activity with ACTT and the respective professional body.

Recognition of Transnational Programmes and Foreign Awarding Bodies/Institutions

Transnational programmes are those that originate in one country and are delivered in another. In Trinidad and Tobago, transnational programmes must either be individually quality assured or recognised through a quality assurance process applied to the operations of the foreign awarding body/institution.

Programme Approval

Programme Approval is a service provided to registered post secondary and tertiary level institutions to quality assure locally developed programmes. Programmes submitted for approval are evaluated by experts in the programme disciplines to ensure that these programmes meet internationally benchmarked standards.

Equivalence Assessment

Equivalence assessment is an evaluation of a foreign qualification to determine its comparative level and value relative to a similar qualification awarded by an institution in Trinidad and Tobago.

Additional workshops related to quality and quality assurance in higher education may be made available upon request. Training programmes can be developed and customised to meet your institution's needs.
